

Secret U.S. experiments to prompt 2nd Coming?

'It's the destruction of humanity and introduction of 'its' and 'things' that will make war against God'

Posted: August 21, 2011 By Joe Kovacs
© 2011 WND

Is mankind's quest for knowledge, power and longer life about to backfire and wipe human beings off the face of the Earth?

Secret experiments some may consider diabolical now underway in the U.S. and elsewhere are sparking fears of a potential extinction-level event prompting the 2nd Coming of Jesus.

For decades now, there have been science-fiction stories portraying a future filled with spectacular abilities for people, where the definition of what makes someone a human being is blurred by blending high technology and even animal traits into the human body.

In the 1970s, TV's "Six Million Dollar Man" featured Lee Majors as a critically injured astronaut rebuilt by the government to "make him better than he was – better, stronger, faster."

In 1982's classic film "Blade Runner," Harrison Ford portrayed a futuristic cop who falls in love with a genetically engineered female "Replicant" while he looked to kill renegade androids seeking immortality.

Since then, there's been no shortage of tales with similar themes, from "Dollhouse" and "The Terminator" to "Spider-Man," "Splice" and "The Matrix."

And with major advances in technology in recent years, science fiction of the past could become science fact of our immediate future, with human minds connected wirelessly to computers and bionic bodies outperforming top athletes by leaps and bounds. That prospect has some sounding alarm bells about the fulfillment of End-times Bible prophecy and the possible vanishing of mankind through global warfare, disease, starvation or even – as strange as it sounds – replacement by other entities.

Are men and women about to become superhumans who could hasten the prophesied end of the world?

Read more: Secret U.S. experiments to prompt 2nd Coming?
<http://www wnd com/?pageId=334589#ixzz1VjLjUb4n>

Chip and skin: How hi-tech 'tattoo' will monitor patients' vital signs

By Daily Mail Reporter 12th August 2011

Monitoring a patient's vital signs - such as temperature and heart rate - could soon be as simple as sticking on a tiny, wireless patch similar to a temporary tattoo.

Eliminating the bulky wiring and electrodes used in current monitors would make the devices more comfortable for patients, according to an international team of researchers who report their findings in today's edition of the journal Science.

The researchers embedded electronic sensors in a film thinner than the diameter of a human hair, which was placed on a polyester backing like those used for the temporary tattoos popular with children.

Read more: <http://www.dailymail.co.uk/sciencetech/article-2025102/Electronic-skin-How-hi-tech-tattoo-monitor-patients-vital-signs.html#ixzz1VjMayJaF>

IBM unveils chips that mimic the human brain

by Stuart Sumner 18 Aug 2011

IBM has unveiled a new experimental computer chip that it says mimics the human brain in that it perceives, acts and even thinks.

It terms the machines built with these chips "cognitive computers", claiming that they are able to learn through experience, find patterns, generate ideas and understand the outcomes. In building this new generation of chip, IBM combined principles of nanoscience, neuroscience and supercomputing.

Read more: <http://www.computing.co.uk/ctg/news/2102735/ibm-unveils-chips-mimic-human-brain#ixzz1VjN1XKN8>

11 August 2011 Last updated at 15:24 GMT

Animal's genetic code redesigned

By Roland Pease BBC Radio Science

Researchers say they have created the first ever animal with artificial information in its genetic code.

The technique, they say, could give biologists "atom-by-atom control" over the molecules in living organisms.

One expert the BBC spoke to agrees, saying the technique would be seized upon by "the entire biology community".

The work by a Cambridge team, which used nematode worms, appears in the Journal of the American Chemical Society.

The worms - from the species Caenorhabditis elegans - are 1mm long, with just a thousand cells in their transparent bodies.

What makes the newly created animals different is that their genetic code has been extended to create biological molecules not known in the natural world.

Genes are the DNA blueprints that enable living organisms to construct their biological machinery, protein molecules, out of strings of simpler building blocks called amino acids.

Just 20 amino acids are used in natural living organisms, assembled in different combinations to make the tens of thousands of different proteins needed to sustain life.

<http://www.bbc.co.uk/news/science-environment-14492948>

One of the world's 'most feared' pests found in Chicago

By Claudine Zap Aug 25, 2011

One of the world's "most feared" pests was discovered on American soil. The Khapra beetle, in larva stage, was identified by customs officials last week in a 10-pound bag of rice that came from India.

In a press release, Customs and Border Protection described the bug as "one of the world's most tenacious and destructive stored-produce pests because of its ability to damage grain."

The beetles originated in South Asia but have invaded parts of northern Africa, the Middle East, and even Europe, Asia and South Africa.

The Khapra beetle first invaded California in 1953. The infestation was not eradicated until 1966, at a cost of $15 million.

Customs specialists have intercepted the beetle 100 times this year, "compared to three to six per year in 2005 and 2006, and averaging about 15 per year from 2007 to 2009," the press release says.

The Baltimore Sun reports that grain shipments do not even require a live beetle for the entire supply to be rejected. No other species is treated this way. <http://news.yahoo.com/blogs/lookout/one-world-most-feared-pests-found-chicago-230341479.html>

Iran's army says now is time to free 'holy Quds'

Statement calls for rally to show support for Islamic awakening 08/25/2011

By: Reza Kahlili

The Iranian Armed Forces' Headquarters today issued a statement saying that the ongoing revolutions and popular uprisings in the region have created the ideal situation for Muslims to finally clinch a victory over the Zionist regime and to free the holy Quds (Jerusalem) from the Zionist "occupation."

<http://atimetobetray.com/blog/irans-army-says-now-is-time-to-free-holy-quds/>

Israel sends 2 warships to Egyptian border

 AP Associated Press

By TIA GOLDENBERG - Associated Press / Aug 31, 2011

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israel sent two more warships to the Red Sea border with Egypt, the military said Tuesday, part of a military reinforcement there following warnings that militants are planning another attack on southern Israel from Egyptian soil.

Earlier this week, Israel's military ordered more troops to the border area following intelligence reports of an impending attack, days after militants crossed into Israel through the Egyptian border and killed eight Israelis in a brazen attack that touched off a wave of violence between Israel and militants in the Gaza Strip. <http://news.yahoo.com/israel-sends-2-warships-egyptian-border-141036440.html>

Turkey maligns Israel to freeze the IDF out of the US anti-Iran missile shield

DEBKAfile Exclusive Analysis September 2, 2011,

Into two obstacles in its two-year campaign to destroy Israel's good name and squeeze it into a corner: First, the UN report out Friday, Sept. 2 justified Israel's Gaza blockade and its navy's interception last year of a Turkish vessel leading a flotilla aiming to breach that blockade, although it was assailed for its "excessive response" to the violence of Turkish extremists.

Ankara tried in vain to squash this report and postpone its publication.

Thursday, Turkish Foreign Minister Ahmet Davutoglu laid down an ultimatum which gave Israel 24 hours to abandon its refusal to apologize for the nine deaths aboard that vessel, Turkish-flagged ship Mavi Marmora , caused by a clash between armed Turkish "peace activists" and Israeli soldiers who boarded it. Davutoglu said Israel must also compensate the bereaved families and end the blockade. Israel again stood by its refusal to apologize - Turkey's second contretemps.

<http://www.debka.com/article/21267/>

'Iran's first nuclear power plant connected to grid'

By REUTERS

09/04/2011

TEHRAN - Iran's first nuclear power plant, near the Gulf city of Bushehr, has started adding electricity to the national grid, the ISNA news agency reported on Sunday.

"The Bushehr nuclear power plant joined the national grid on Saturday at 23:29 (1859 GMT) with the power of around 60 megawatts," ISNA said.

The announcement comes three days after a statement by diplomats claiming that the UN International Atomic Energy Agency will once again highlight concern about possible military aspects to Iran's nuclear activities in its latest quarterly report, due to be submitted to member states in the next few days. <http://www.jpost.com/IranianThreat/News/Article.aspx?id=236608>

US sources: Turkey's sharp economic downswing undercuts its regional status DEBKAfile Exclusive Report September 4, 2011

US sources told debkafile that the Erdogan government's outpouring of vindictive misinformation with a view to upsetting relations between the Obama administration and the Israeli government would cut no ice. Mixing in American domestic politics to misdirect its international crises was a dangerous game.

The Turkish Navy, they added, is no match for Israeli missile boat technology and their electronic jamming and tracking systems. Neither do the Turks have advanced submarines like Israel's German-made Dolphins or close air cover.

US sources following the dispute also dismissed as hollow Davutoglu's follow-up threat Saturday, Sept. 3: "If Israel persists with its current position," he warned, "the Arab spring will give rise to a strong Israel opposition as well as the debate on the authoritarian regimes."

Washington sources condemned such statements as beyond the acceptable diplomatic bounds. "It sounds as though Ankara is threatening to stir up the Palestinian and Israeli Arab populations against the Israeli government and army. If that's what Davutoglu meant to say, Turkey is sailing very close to the wind and risks President Obama and European governments suspending their participation in NATO operations in the Middle East.

Iran runs nuclear missile payload tests, moves onto 60 pc fuel enrichment

DEBKAfile Special Report September 5, 2011,

Advanced IR-2m centrifuge

The UN International Atomic Energy Agency Friday, Sept. 2 stressed its increasing concern "about the possible existence in Iran of past or current undisclosed nuclear-related activities involving military-related organizations, including activities related to the development of a nuclear payload for a missile, about which the Agency continues to receive new information."

The nuclear watchdog was also alarmed by three disclosures made by Fereydoon Abbas, head of Iran's atomic energy agency, Monday, Aug. 29, attesting to the speeding-up of its military nuclear program and preparations for a possible attack on its installations.

1. Abbasi boasted that Iran's nuclear fuel production already far exceeded its needs. debkafile's military sources report that this first public announcement meant that Tehran was about to move on from 20 percent enriched uranium to 60 percent – the last step before the 90 percent enrichment for weapons-grade fuel.

According to several sources, Iran has already stocked 4,500 kilograms of low-enriched uranium, which would be enough for four nuclear weapons after further enrichment.

<http://www.debka.com/article/21269/>

Iran Equips Air Defense Unit with Large Numbers of Anti-Aircraft Missiles (Video)

September 4, 2011

By:Reza Kahlili 09/04/2011 According to the revolutionary guard media outlet, Fars News Agency, The Iranian Defense Ministry delivered large numbers of home-made mid-range surface-to-air missiles to the country's Air Defense Unit on Sunday in a move to boost Iran's air defense power and capability. During a ceremony attended by Iranian Defense Minister Brigadier General Ahmad [...]

Israel's Home Front chief's dose of reality flusters defense establishment

DEBKAfile Exclusive Analysis September 6, 2011

After just a month on the job as Home Front Commander, Maj. Gen. Eyal Eisenberg warned Monday, Sept. 5 of the increasingly peril of a total Middle East war in the wake of the Arab revolts and Israel's rift with Turkey.

Stressing the long term, Eisenberg warned that the Arab Spring would likely evolve into "a radical Islamic winter" raising the potential for "total war in the Middle East" and the possible use of weapons of mass destruction.

<http://www.debka.com/article/21275/>

Erdogan drives toward armed clash with Israel. Oil and gas at stake

DEBKAfile Exclusive Report September 9, 2011

Turkish Prime Minister Tayyip Erdogan this week coolly moved his country step by provocative step towards an armed clash with Israel – not just over the Palestinian issue, but because he covets the gas and oil resources of the eastern Mediterranean opposite Israel's shores.

Thursday night, Sept. 8, he announced that Turkish warships will escort any Turkish aid vessels for Palestinians in the Gaza Strip. In his remarks to Al Jazeera television, the Turkish prime minister also said he had taken steps "to stop Israel from unilaterally exploiting natural resources from the eastern Mediterranean."

The Turkish prime minister clings to the belief that the foremost Arab powers, Egypt and Saudi Arabia, which have been watching his maneuvers with deep suspicion, will have no choice but to play ball with him now that he has confronted Israel. The first crack in the Arab ice came about Thursday, Sept. 8, in the form of Egyptian consent to join the Turkish Navy in sea maneuvers in the eastern Mediterranean.

Erdogan plans to send his warships into this water for two missions:

1. To split the Israel's small Navy into two heads – one for sustaining the blockade against Gaza and one for safeguarding the gas and oil rigs opposite its shores.
 2. To scare Israel into the full or partial stoppage of its offshore oil and gas operations, thereby robbing it of energy power status and substantial economic gains. Erdogan is determined never to let Israel overshadow Turkey in the regional stakes and will put a stop to the Jewish state's progress – even if military aggression is called for.
- debkafile's military sources report that the Turkish prime minister is resolved to corner Israel into an inescapable military confrontation. It might not happen at once or even within a week, but it will happen a lot sooner than many Israeli politicians and military chiefs imagine because he is using Israel as his ticket to regional prestige.

<http://www.debka.com/article/21282/>

Israel IDs Hamas Presence In China, Turkey

- Middle East Newsline
- September 09, 2011

JERUSALEM [MENL] -- For the first time, Israel has identified a Hamas operational presence in China and Turkey.

The Israel Security Agency said Hamas established a presence in several major countries, including a NATO member. ISA said Hamas was operating what was termed a command post in Turkey and building a presence in China.

<http://www.menewsline.com/article-1159,23794-Israel-IDs-Hamas-Presence-In-Chin.aspx>

Turkish frigates to confront Israeli vessels, disable their weapons

DEBKAfile Special Report September 12, 2011

The Erdogan government sharply ratcheted up its threat of war on Israel Monday, Sept. 12 with a report that three Turkish Navy frigates are to sail for the eastern Mediterranean "to ensure freedom of navigation and confront Israeli warships if necessary."

As Turkish Prime Minister Tayyip Erdogan was set to start a visit to Egypt, Turkish naval sources reported: "If Turkish warships encounter an Israeli military ship outside Israel's 12-mile territorial waters, they will advance up to 100 meters from the ship and disable its weapon system."

The threat bluntly applied to Israel's naval enforcement of its UN-approved blockade of the Gaza Strip.

debkafile's military sources report that this is more than a threat of belligerence against Israeli naval shipping; it is also an attempt to dictate the terms of its threatened military engagement at sea with Israel and arbitrarily lay down the outer limits of Israel's territorial waters. One of its goals is to deprive Israel's deep sea gas wells of naval protection.

Turkish naval sources report that the frigates assigned the mission against Israel belong to its Southern Sea Area Command. <http://www.debka.com/article/21295/>

Erdogan expected to lambast Israel on Cairo trip

By HERB KEINON
09/12/2011 20:23

Turkish PM looks to solidify status as leader of Muslim world; J'lem officials see muscle flexing in Med. aimed as much at Cyprus, as at Israel.

Turkish Prime Minister Recep Tayyip Erdogan arrived in Cairo on Monday, amid expectations he will blast Israel at a meeting of the Arab League foreign ministers on Tuesday as part of his efforts to be seen as the head of the Muslim world.

Israeli-Greek-Turkish air sea forces prepare for first Cypriot gas drilling DEBKAfile Exclusive Report September 17, 2011

Military tension is building up among Greece, Turkey and Israel as Cyprus prepares to start exploratory drilling for gas offshore Monday, Sept. 19 in the face of threats from Ankara. All three have placed their air and sea forces in a state of preparedness along with the Cypriot army.

From Wednesday, Sept 14, Turkish warplanes and fighters kept watch on the Homer Ferrington rig belonging to Houston-based Noble Energy as it moved from Israel's offshore field Noa opposite Ashdod to Cyprus's Aphrodite (Block 12) field ready to start work.

It was the first time since the Mavis Marmara episode of May 2010 that Turkish warships came less than 80 kilometers from Israel's territorial waters. debkafile's military sources report that Israeli missile ships and drones kept watch from afar on the Noble rig's movement and tracked Turkish surveillance. <http://www.debka.com/article/21311/>

Egypt resumes gas flow to Jordan – but not to Israel

DEBKAfile Exclusive Report September 20, 2011

Egyptian gas »

Egyptian gas pipelines - one runs dry

Egyptian natural gas is flowing again to Jordan – but not to Israel, debkafile's exclusive sources report.

Both Cairo and Amman are keeping quiet about the resumption of supplies through the Sinai pipeline which was sabotaged five times since the Egyptian revolution in February. Jordan has agreed to top up payment for the gas by an extra $250 million, but Cairo has broken off negotiations with Jerusalem on new prices so making sure that supplies to Israel are cut off for good.

That is not the only cause for concern about the state of peace ties between Egypt and Israel. While Israeli officials optimistically forecast the early reopening of the Israeli embassy in Cairo after it was wrecked 10 days ago by a radical Islamic mob, officials in Cairo quickly put a damper on this forecast by announcing that the Israeli ambassador would not return to Cairo any time soon.

And in a symbolic snub, the military junta banned the traditional export to Israel of palm fronds for the Four Species blessing on the Sukkot festival next month. Last year, Israel imported 650,000 palm fronds from northern Sinai. <http://www.debka.com/article/21319/>

IMF: World economy enters 'dangerous new phase'

IMF says global economy in 'dangerous new phase,' slashes growth forecasts for US and Europe

AP Associated Press

FILE - This file photo taken Aug. 31, 2011, shows crowds of job-seekers waiting to enter a job fair at Crenshaw Christian Center in South Los Angeles. Most economists expect growth of between 1.5 percent and 2 percent in the final two quarters. Though an improvement, it wouldn't be enough to lower the unemployment rate. The rate has been 9 percent or higher in all but two months since the recession officially ended more than two years ago. (AP Photo/Reed Saxon, File)

Christopher S. Rugaber, AP Economics Writer, On Tuesday September 20, 2011,

The U.S. economy faces longer-lasting problems that go beyond high gas prices and disruptions caused by the Japan crisis, the IMF said.

Employers are adding few jobs and giving out meager pay raises. Many homeowners owe more on their mortgages than their homes are worth. Banks are keeping credit tight.

All those trends are holding back consumer spending. Unemployment is likely to average 9 percent next year, the IMF's report said, echoing a recent estimate by the Obama administration.

President Barack Obama's proposal to cut taxes and spend more on infrastructure should provide much-needed short-term stimulus, the IMF said. But it needs to be paired with a longer-term plan to reduce the deficit over, the report said. The timing of the budget cuts is key, Blanchard said.

Budget cuts "cannot be too fast or it will kill growth," Blanchard said in a statement. "It cannot be too slow or it will kill credibility."

President Obama on Monday proposed more than $3 trillion of tax increases and spending cuts over 10 years. His proposal will be considered by a congressional panel charged with finding $1.5 trillion in deficit reduction this year.

Both Obama's jobs proposal and the tax increases face stiff opposition from Republicans. They oppose any tax increases and have strongly criticized the president's plans.

The 187-member nation fund conducts economic analysis and lends money to countries in financial distress. It will hold its annual meetings with the World Bank later this week in Washington.

<http://finance.yahoo.com/news/IMF-World-economy-enters-apf-1240337037.html?x=0&sec=topStories&pos=1&asset=&ccode=>

L.A. NOW

Southern California -- this just in

« Previous Post | L.A. NOW Home | Next Post »

San Juan Capistrano family fined for holding Bible study in home

September 21, 2011 | 11:29 am

A San Juan Capistrano family has been fined for holding regular Bible studies in their home in violation of the city's zoning code.

A religious legal nonprofit group has taken up the family's cause, calling it a case of religious freedom.

The city of San Juan Capistrano has fined Charles and Stephanie Fromm $300 for their regular Bible study groups, according to a statement from the Sacramento-based Pacific Justice Institute.

The couple appealed the fine and was told subsequent fines would be enhanced if they continued holding the study group without a conditional use permit --

<http://latimesblogs.latimes.com/lanow/2011/09/san-juan-capistrano-family-fined-for-holding-bible-study-in-home.html> cialized permit allowing the activity under prescribed conditions, according to the statement.